

Model United Nations Conference at The Elite English School, Dubai UAE

On November 6th and 7th, 2024, The Elite English School, Dubai hosted a two-day Model United Nations Conference, gathering talented student delegates to simulate diplomatic discussions within the framework of the United Nations General Assembly. The central agenda, “Addressing Climate Conflicts: Resource Scarcity and Global Security,” challenged participants to engage with one of today’s most pressing global issues.

The MUN program provided students with an immersive experience, allowing them to assume the roles of diplomats representing various countries. Delegates discussed the complex relationship between climate change, resource scarcity, and global security, and the resulting conflicts that increasingly impact communities around the world. Over the two days, they worked collaboratively to propose sustainable solutions aimed at mitigating resource-related conflicts while balancing economic and security concerns.

Through rigorous debate and research, delegates deepened their understanding of how environmental issues intersect with geopolitical and economic interests, fostering a sense of global citizenship. Guided by expert mentors and experienced

MUN members, students honed skills in critical thinking, public speaking, negotiation, and leadership.

The event culminated with a powerful closing ceremony, where delegates presented resolutions reflecting their comprehensive understanding of the agenda.

The MUN program at The Elite English School successfully underscored the importance of youth engagement in global challenges, equipping students with the skills and awareness necessary to become active contributors to a sustainable future.
